Green Meetings by H-Hotels.com

Our climate-neutral events offer real added value for your event. Greenhouse gases are also emitted at conferences, due to electricity consumption, heating, catering and travelling to and from the event. For this reason, we are able to specify the CO₂ emissions for every customer. As a sustainability-oriented company, we are aware of our responsibility and neutralise the emissions by supporting a regionally accepted climate protection project. Make use of climate-neutral events in order to support your company's own sustainability strategy and raise sensitivity towards the subject of climate protection among your staff and participants – and all of this with very little effort and expense. We look forward to sending you an overview of all participating hotels.
