METROPOL — THE MOSCOW LEGEND

Metropol is a famous historic hotel with unique architecture. Savva Mamontov initiated the construction project in 1905, bringing together the best architects, artists and sculptors of the late 19th to early 20th century. An ode to Moscow modern art, the Metropol Hotel is located in downtown Moscow, a mere three-minute walk from Red Square, the Kremlin and the Bolshoi Theatre.

The Metropol Hotel boasts many magnificent rooms — 351 in total — including 72 suites, none of which are identical. Metropol provides a unique environment for banquets, meetings, seminars, press conferences and outside catering.

ART DÉCO ROOMS. BACKGROUND

Metropol Hotel is proud to present 72 new Art Déco rooms, which have opened the doors for the guest after the first stage of the hotel renovation was finished.

It should be an interior comfortable for living. Remaining intact would inevitably turn a "gem" into a beautiful but lifeless museum.

The Metropol will become a historic hotel with up to date accommodation facilities reflecting the tradition and heritage of Moscow Art nouveau, but very personalized service. New rooms are available with great bathrooms and all modern technology, allowing to enjoy the historic atmosphere with very up to date facilities in great comfort.

Now hotel guests can choose between classic suites with genuine interiors of the early 20th century and any of the new rooms in the categories Grand Superior, Deluxe, Grand Deluxe, Metropol Suite, Premier Suite, or Ambassador Suite.

METROPOL CUISINE Chefs

Brand chef of the Metropol Andrey Shmakov began his career in Tallinn, trained in Finland, Denmark, Italy, and Germany, worked in St. Petersburg, and finally, after being invited by the Metropol, moved to Moscow to head the kitchens of our historic Grand Hotel.

Head chef of Metropol Alexander Mishakov has been working at the Hotel's kitchen for more than 10 years. He has extensive cooking experience in Russian and Mediterranean cuisine.

Following the traditions of Russian hospitality and modern culinary trends, Metropol Hotel offers its guests only the finest, most natural products from the best farmers and companies in Russia. We support a "Farm-to-Table" approach: guests of the hotel and the restaurants at the Metropol enjoy the freshest meat, dairy products, fruits and vegetables from Russian farmers.

The hotel's brand-chef Andrey Shmakov and head chef Alexander Mishakov have dedicated many months to sourcing and selecting the best farm products from all over Russia. Our guests can now appreciate them in the menus of all Metropol's services: at the SAVVA restaurant, in the Chaliapine bar and at breakfast, as well as the room service menus and also our banqueting and city catering services.

METROPOL CITY CATERING

The Metropol has proudly been serving food at some of the most special events in Moscow for over 110 years, from weddings and anniversaries to presentations and conferences.
