What to do

Mijas

Once described as the most charming and picturesque Andalusian village in Costa del Sol, the historic white village of Mijas is the perfect destination to wander around until the sun goes down. Nestled between the mountains and the sea, Mijas has numerous hiking trails, long beaches, and golf courses nearby. Its narrow streets, white lagares and cortijos, craft shops and flower-adorned balconies will make you fall in love with the relaxed lifestyle of the Andalusian countryside.

Málaga

As the gateway to the Costa del Sol, Málaga has become one of Spain's cultural hubs, brimming with places to explore, from the attention-grabbing Pompidou Centre and the popular Picasso Museum to the street-art-cloaked alleys of its edgy Soho district. The hallmarks of Málaga's rich past are scattered throughout the cobbled streets of the old town, its mountainside Roman amphitheatre and the Moorish citadels of Alcazaba and Gibralfaro.

Marbella

As well as being one of the most popular luxury destinations in Europe, Marbella is home to traditional Andalusian architecture, flower-covered balconies, and narrow pebbled streets where Spaniards and international visitors mingle alfresco during dinnertime. From Plaza de los Naranjos to the Alcazaba or the castle, walking around Marbella's Old Quarter is the perfect way to get familiar with Andalusian traditions and rich culture.

An Andalusian experience like no other.
