LONDON'S FAVOURITE FOR ALL
MANNER OF CELEBRATIONS

Since the late nineteenth century, Claridge's has been one of London's favourite places for grand celebrations and private dining. This legendary hotel offers true distinction and style for all occasions. Its private events spaces include the 1930s Ballroom, the scene of many a state banquet and society ball. The Ballroom connects through to the Mirror Room, with the elegant French Salon and Drawing Room beyond. There is also a select suite of private dining rooms on the sixth floor.

Claridge's boasts 203 individually designed guest rooms and suites, including two magnificent penthouse apartments. The Foyer and Reading Room serve an ever-changing menu for delicious all-day dining, and an award-winning afternoon tea. Claridge's Bar provides a convivial meeting place, the Fumoir serves classic cocktails in Lalique crystal, whilst the fashion houses of Bond Street and Regent Street are within easy walking distance.

THE BALLROOM

Approached through Claridge's prestigious Brook Street banqueting entrance, a gentle flight of stairs, newly sporting a faithfully crafted replica of the original Marion Dorn Art Deco carpet, leads expectant guests into the imposing and recently refreshed Ballroom Reception area, scene of many a delighted gathering of acquaintances both old and new, the gentle murmur of anticipation rising as the assembled party prepares to enter the glamorous and English Heritage listed Ballroom.

Fully restored by leading interiors guru Guy Oliver, the Ballroom, and neighbouring Mirror Room, have been designed to echo the original décor first introduced to the hotel by Oswald Milne and Basil Ionides in the late 1920s. Using colours reminiscent of that era, eau de Nil, sable, chocolate, olive and silver, the subtle detailing extends to platinum leaf covered pillars, hand-engraved mirrors and contemporary Art Deco fan design carpet.

The Ballroom Reception

The Ballroom Reception area is a fine, well-proportioned room that can be used in its own right for receptions and informal meetings. It has the benefit of the Ballroom's own entrance and cloakroom and is adjoined by the smaller Painted Room in classic Art Deco style.

The Ballroom

The setting of many a society wedding, ball and state banquet, Claridge's Ballroom is also a prestigious venue for cocktail receptions on a grand scale. It accommodates 400 for receptions or 250 for dining – and up to 650 guests in combination with the Mirror Room, French Salon or Drawing Room. It has its own entrance, reception area, marble Rotunda and cloakroom.

The Mirror Room

This striking room with its magnificent mirrors and large windows is perfect for lunches and dinners, cocktail receptions and weddings. Linked by double doors to the adjoining Ballroom, it is perfectly suited for combining with functions in the Ballroom as a reception or refreshment room. ## ACCOMMODATION

All 190 bedrooms and suites, many of which interconnect, are individually designed and supremely comfortable, assuring guests a truly memorable stay. Each has the latest in communications and entertainment systems with digital quality films, music and WiFi. With their bold tiling and grand chrome fittings, Claridge's bathrooms have a special reputation for their strikingly good design and generosity of space.

There are two penthouse suites on the seventh floor, with outside terraces and views across London. These have been magnificently restored: the Brook Penthouse to its former Art Deco glory, the Davies penthouse in traditional style.

Always a showcase for British design talent, Claridge's recently commissioned royal designers Linley and Diane von Furstenburg to create a series of new interior schemes.

WINING AND DINING

Claridge's Bar is one of Mayfair's most popular meeting places. The elegant bar plays host to some of the world's leading lights.

The Fumoir with a décor inspired by the original 1930s glass panel above its entrance, serves classic cocktails and champagne in Lalique crystal.

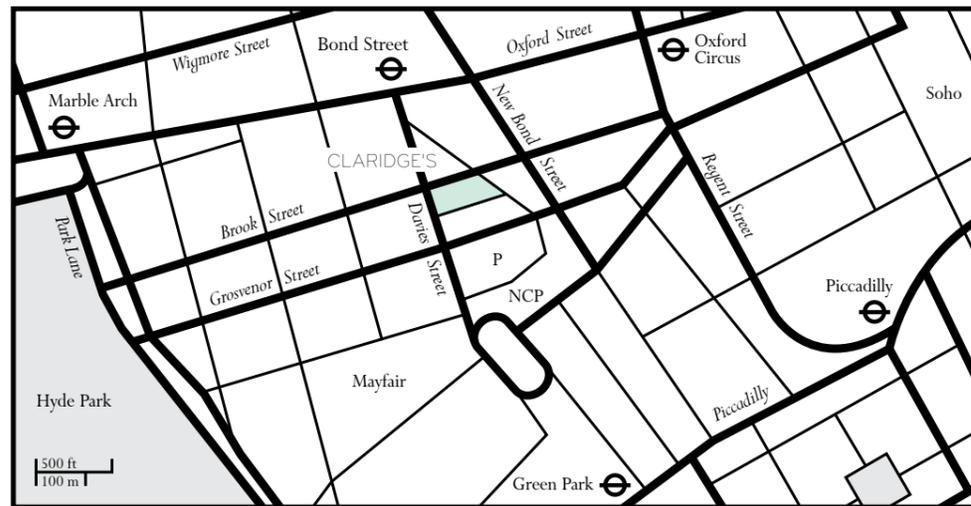

Michelin-starred Fera at Claridge's is an experience inspired by the rhythms of nature. The name Fera, which means 'wild' in Latin, reflects both the primal influence of nature and the highly seasonal ingredients used.

Dale Chihuly's magnificent silver-white 'light sculpture' graces the elegantly restored Foyer, perennially popular with Londoners and visitors alike. The Reading Room with its Art Deco cut marble fireplaces, rich leather columns, banquettes and suede walls, is the perfect choice for delicious and intimate dining throughout the day. Don't miss Claridge's award-winning afternoon tea which includes a huge choice of over 30 different teas from around the world and a delicious selection of sandwiches, French pastries and freshly baked raisin and apple scones served with clotted cream.
