The Foyer's grand art deco setting is as magical as the stars of stage and screen who have graced this glorious space over the last century. The Reading Room, with its inviting banquettes, is a more intimate dining space. Together, they are the perfect place to enjoy breakfast, lunch and dinner along with what many regard as the best afternoon tea in London.

NATURE

Michelin-starred Fera at Claridge's is an experience inspired by the rhythms of the seasons. The name Fera, which means 'wild' in Latin, reflects both the primal influence of nature and the way in which the restaurant evolves with the seasons. Fera's team of talented chefs' intuitive feel for food is matched by impeccable technical skill, to produce dishes that showcase the finest ingredients at their very best – and often in a whole new light.
