“The hotel that watches Barcelona”

The restive travellers wish to go to a new city and discover that all they experience is steeped in history.

Ohla Barcelona is much more than a modern luxury boutique hotel. Its location downtown Barcelona, its exclusive access, the elegance of its 74 rooms, the spectacular terrace that offers possibly the best lookout to Barcelona, the mezzanine where the avant-garde gastronomy has its space, are enough reasons to visit this renovated building.

Located on a site full of history: the antique traces of a water supply channel from Roman times and the former palace of the first Count of Barcelona, Guifré el Pilós. It also witnessed the urban tear that followed the creation of Via Laietana, the headquarters of the first department stores (Can Vilardell) ever to exist in the city. Many generations remember it as the place where they delivered the letters to the Three Wise Men in Christmas when they were children.

The artistic dialogue of its facades and its different periods are very interesting. On one side, the Neoclassical front façade classified as historical heritage. On the other side, the Prussian-blue new facade, with geometrical designs and balanced with vertical windows.

The expressive power given by the artist Frederic Amat contributes with his sculptures to decorate as an attempt of a “constructive acupuncture” work. There are more than a thousand porcelain-headed needles in the façade polished in the shape of an eye hand-painted by the artist.

timeless glamour at the Eixample district

Ohla Eixample, timeless glamour at the Eixample district. Ohla Eixample was conceived to provide a unique stay in Barcelona, either for leisure or business.

Ohla Eixample is located in a building that used to hold offices in the 70s. Behind its façade, and after a great architecture work Ohla Eixample surprises and hides many historical curiosities. It is the result of a dialogue considering technology, aesthetics, and the city.

It is a modern, urban building that defines itself through attention to detail, high quality materials and industrial finishings, combining maximum functionality, new technology and architectural creativity.

This ambitious and unique project presents an outstanding ceramic facade with an extraordinary design: more than 1000 pieces carved by a robotic interpretation of Vivaldi's Four Seasons. The result is a composition of an amazing façade providing a spectacular landmark and is an eye-catcher for those passing by. "Vivaldi Recomposed" musical composition by Max Richter takes as a base something from the past to give a touch of modernity. The same system was used to create the great ceramic mural that covers all the down floor, starting in the front desk until the end of the restaurant.

Today Ohla Eixample houses a combination of elegance, architecture, music, gastronomy and pure revitalization, as well as an access to the intense economic, cultural and artistic activity of the city.
